

jossica

I was told that when you came to this school, everyone was nice and it was like a family. But I went two weeks without anyone talking to me. And everyone's complaining that they don't like the new kids, and the more kids the come the more cliques <sup>there</sup> are. And it's starting to turn more into a school than a family. I don't think I was here long enough to know how much it changed.