

About the House

This beautiful home was built in 1905 by local businessman Marcus Maurin, as a wedding gift for his daughter. The home has had several owners, but the current owners, Kevin and Jill Ward, have a special connection, as Kevin's grandfather, Dr. Herman Koop, was an earlier owner and operated his medical practice from here.

The architecture of the house is described as a free classic Queen Anne with Colonial Revival details. The home has warmth and charm as highlighted by stained oak and maple floors, beautiful woodwork, fireplace and wrap around porch. Guests will take a step back in time as they relax on the front porch, in front of the cozy fireplace, or in their own room.
